We are standing on the threshold
Our last farewell to say,
As we start on our life's new journey
O'er its diverse paths to-day.
We unite in prayer for guidance
And unfurl the Gold and the Blue,
For Emmanuel gives us courage
To uphold her ideals true.

CHORUS
Farewell, farewell, Alma Mater dear,
'Tis now our turn to bid thee adieu.
Thy honored emblem we'll raise on high
As the standard of Thirty-two;
For its blue is the symbol of hope secure
For our future where'er we may dwell,
And its gold is the presage of fair success,
So we thank thee, Emmanuel.

On a royal road we enter,
It is called the King's Highway.
Every milestone erected to guide us,
Should we travel by night or day.
If we falter on our journey,
We shall hear a clear-toned bell;
If we listen, we shall take courage
At the voice of Emmanuel.

—Catherine J. O'Leary.
Tree Song

Long, long ago when first this earth was made,
God shaped the father-seedling of a tree;
A tree of strength it was, a tree of love,
Our gift for thee from all eternity.
Its strength to be the symbol of thine own,
Strong in thy faithful service of the truth;
Its arms outstretched, a symbol of thy prayers,
Its fettered leaves, thy ever-constant youth,
Its love, like thine, to be a love entire,
Whose story fruitful deeds will ever tell,
And so today we leave God’s gift and ours,
A token of our hearts, Emmanuel.

—Mary K. Clancy.
