Years of Planning...

Deliberate, strategic planning and dedication to Emmanuel's founding mission have yielded dramatic success.
We begin the New Year 2003 with hearts grateful for the many blessings of the past year. Among our great blessings are the people who believe in Emmanuel College: people like Maureen and Frank Wilkens who gave the largest alumni gift ever; Carolyn and Peter Lynch who established the Carolyn A. Lynch Institute of Emmanuel College; and Tom Hynes who contributed his time and expertise to bring Julie Hall home to Emmanuel.

How delighted we were in September to welcome 382 new students to our traditional program, continuing the dramatic growth of our student population. All our students with their hopes, their energy and their commitment to others make our campus a vibrant college community. We are grateful to our faculty and administrative staff who carry out our educational mission, and to our graduates and friends who support our students through their generous contributions.

To live in Boston is to be particularly affected by the sexual abuse crisis in the Church.

In my own discussions over the past few months I find that the crisis in the Church has helped people recognize that their faith is in fact strong. College students especially have a deep interest in spirituality and a commitment to community service. I believe that this is the moment to engage lay people of all ages in taking responsibility for the life of the Church of today and tomorrow.

On campus we have been discussing a range of issues in the Church, and this semester we are inviting alumni to join us in a series on critical contemporary issues in the Catholic Church as described later in this magazine.

With the words of the Liturgy of January 1st, I pray that God may grant you every blessing and keep you safe throughout the coming year. May God grant you unwavering faith, constant hope, and love that endures to the end. May the Lord look upon you kindly and give you peace!

Emmanuel's Overnight SUCCESS is Rooted in Years of Careful Planning ast summer, a yellow backhoe rolled up next to Marian Hall and began digging.
For everyone at Emmanuel, senior faculty and administrators especially, this was a long­ awaited sight. The new Student Center, the first ground-up construction project to take place on campus in more than 35 years, was moving off the drawing board and into the earth.

In September, Trustees, government officials, alumni, and other members of the College community gathered for a formal ground breaking ceremony . For some, this was their first visit to campus in years, and they could see immediately that the Student Center project was just one of several exciting new developments at Emmanuel.

Two things were impossible to miss. The first was the steel frame of a major new building on the back parcel of Emmanuel's campus. This was Merck Research Laboratories - Boston, a result of an innovative and enormously beneficial part­ tnership between Emmanuel and Merck & Co.,
Inc., a major pharmaceutical research company.
The other unmistakable change on campus was the presence of male undergraduate students.
Indeed, the Class of 2006 was already Emmanuel's second coeducational class, and on this Friday afternoon visitors could sense the dynamic pulse among the expanded and diverse student body.

During the groundbreaking ceremony itself, audience members also would learn that Emmanuel had repurchased Julie Hall. In 1974, administrators had deemed it necessary to relinquish the residence hall to Beth Israel Hospital.
Now Julie Hall — the College's first residence hall and home to generations of students — was once again part of Emmanuel, completing the Brookline Avenue side of campus.

A closer look reveals that the College's success has been decades in the making. The new Student Center, for example, while highly visitable, is simply the latest in a series of improvements that Emmanuel's leadership methodically began putting into place in the mid-1980s.

"Even when — perhaps especially when — trends were working against us, we made decisions that would enable this College to thrive in the long term," recalls Emmanuel President Sister Janet Eisner, SND. "It required patience and taking the long view, but the resul ts are now becoming clear, and they are tremendous."

To be sure, new construction and a growing enrollment are signs that Emmanuel is on the move. But these new realities also testify to the success of the College's approach to planning under the presidency of Sister Janet. That approach is marked by great care, flexibility, innovation, imagination and practicality. It also is firmly rooted in the educational mission of the Sisters of Notre Dame and in their belief that education is the greatest work on earth.

1970s and 1980s: New Challenges,
New Opportunities

Despite its focus on facilities in recent years, the College's leadership has adhered to the belief that Emmanuel is more of a community than a place per se, its members connected more by a mission than by mere proximity.

"We have always been much more than our buildings," says Sister Janet. "What makes Emmanuel great, what has always made us great, is our people and the relationships among us."

That perspective became instrumental in the mid-1970s, when the College began to experience decreases in traditional enrollment and revenue following transitions to coeducation at many colleges, including Boston College and Holy Cross. By understanding the College's identity primarily in terms of people and a common educational enterprise, administrators and Trustees were free to explore whether some buildings could be either leased or sold in order to continuue to support mission-critical programs and student financial aid.

Following an extensive deliberative process,
Emmanuel officials identified a key opportunity:
the College owned more land than was necessary at that time to carry out its academic educational mission. This enabled Emmanuel, in 1974, to relinquish Julie Hall to Beth Israel and to lease Loretto Hall to Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences.

Ten years later, recognizing the need to renovate the College's science facilities, Emmanuel coordinated a joint venture between Beth Israel and Children’s Hospital and provided it a short-term lease of Alumnae Hall. The College used the resulting funds to transform a portion of Marian Hall into a modern science education center.

College Treasurer Sister Anne Mary Donovan, SND notes that the building surge on campus undertaken by the Sisters of Notre Dame following the Second World War gave the College the capital assets it needed to endure. “Without the vision of those Sisters who dared to build those buildings when the student population was great, the College never would have been able to survive those interim years,” she says.

These lease agreements never diminished the College’s ability to provide its students with an outstanding educational experience. On the contrary, the strategy of converting properties into funds for a period of time — while in most cases retaining full ownership rights of those properties — helped ensure the future of Emmanuel’s distinctive values-based liberal arts and sciences offerings.

It is important to recognize, too, that the College did not simply persevere during this time but instead moved forward on a range of important initiatives. By completing the extensive renovation of Marian Hall, and by partnering with IBM to become one of the first campuses in Boston to be fully wired in residence halls and classrooms for interactive technology, Emmanuel demonstrated that it looked confidently to the future.

We have always been much more than our buildings. What makes Emmanuel great, what has always made us great, is our people and the relationships among us.

SISTER JANET EISNER, SND

A strategy for strength in the new century

The momentum at Emmanuel accelerated notably in 1996. In that year Sister Janet led the discussion to initiate the Colleges of the Fenway (COF), an innovative consortium of six neighboring colleges. Since the COF’s founding, Emmanuel has offered its students the social and academic benefits of a large university while maintaining the close-knit community of a small private college.

It was also in 1996 that the College developed an Institutional Master Plan. The aim was to identify tangible, achievable ways for Emmanuel to significantly increase its enrollment and thrive in the new century.

To secure a sufficient revenue stream for this growth, the College again looked to its real estate holdings. Extensive study by the architectural firm Goody Clancy confirmed that the College could ground-lease two more parcels of its land without affecting the quality of its academic program, even if full-time enrollment were to increase substantially. The Master Plan subsequently identified this lease-able area as the “endowment campus.”

The challenge then became how to derive the most monetary value from that land — and in the process significantly increase Emmanuel’s endowment. Together with representatives of Corcoran Jennison, a construction management firm, the College reviewed a number of possible uses for the land, including an office building and a hotel. It became clear that the land would be most ideal for a research and development facility, given its adjacency to the Longwood Medical Area and close proximity to students at Emmanuel and other outstanding colleges and universities.

Coincidentally, Merck & Co., Inc., was looking at that time to build a major new research facility in the heart of Boston.

Following approval of Emmanuel’s Master Plan by the city of Boston in 2000, the College entered into a 75-year ground-lease agreement with Merck, enabling the company to begin construction of its new 30,000 square-foot research facility in exchange for a one-time multi-million dollar payment.

The successful conclusion of the Merck lease is attributable in large part to Sister Anne Mary Donovan, who negotiated directly with high-level Merck officials. College Trustee Kathleen Murphy, who was closely involved in the negotiations, says, “Sister Anne was absolutely key. For one thing, she understood what the College needed and what was important in terms of the educational mission. For another, she showed great business skills and instincts. I’m convinced that the deal would not have been as successful without her service and leadership.”

The partnership between Merck and Emmanuel promises enormous opportunities for students and faculty in the form of internships, science education initiatives and programmatic collaborations. It also places the College in a position of unprecedented financial strength. According to the accounting firm KPMG, Emmanuel has moved into “a new and different financial league.”

First-rate facilities to match superb programs

If the 1996 Master Plan identified a strategy for funding, it also sketched the ways Emmanuel’s academic and residence life facilities would evolve in the years ahead. The plan was based on the idea that Emmanuel had an opportunity to grow into its own success — that is, match the quality of its physical resources to the excellence of its existing programs.

One of the Master Plan’s guiding principles was that buildings should support and promote each student’s intellectual growth as well as the relationships that are at the heart of the community.
Sister Janet recalls that the plan aimed to foster connections among students, faculty and administrators while also building the college community. “The first facility we restored was our Chapel, and that made a powerful statement about the importance of our identity as a Catholic College,” she says.

With funds raised by the successful Campaign for Emmanuel 2000, the College proceeded to implement a series of substantial improvements to its academic and co-curricular resources. These included the addition of computer classrooms and labs and multimedia classrooms, as well as the renovation of the 250-seat multimedia Janet M. Daley Library Lecture Hall. In addition, Emmanuel’s auditorium was renovated; it now serves as one of the neighborhood’s most attractive venues for performing arts, lectures, meetings and receptions.

In the area of residence life, the Master Plan called for the College to replace St. Joseph Hall, the largest residence hall, with a slightly smaller suite-style student apartment complex. But this plan soon was ousted by events, in particular Emmanuel’s decision to become a coeducational college. With male students set to arrive in the fall of 2001 and enrollment numbers increasing, the College needed more beds, not fewer. Moreover, Emmanuel’s leadership recognized that there was a growing premium on community gathering spaces, as well as a longstanding need for a new gymnasium and modern fitness and recreation facilities.

Adaptability is a hallmark of the Emmanuel planning process, and it proved pivotal to the College’s decision to renovate, not raze, St. Joseph Hall and begin plans for the Student Center. “Having the flexibility and courage to alter a plan we had spent so much time creating — that ultimately enabled us to do what was best for the students and future of Emmanuel,” says Sister Anne.

Set to open in the fall of 2004, the Center will serve as a central gathering area or “living room” for the entire campus community.

Key components will include an atrium, student meeting rooms, a food court, a state-of-the-art training facility for students, and an NCAA regulation-sized gym with bleacher seating for 1,200 – 1,400 fans. Dr. Patricia Rissmeyer, Vice President of Student Affairs and Dean of Students, describes the Center as “a place where students can gather any time of day or night for club meetings, study groups, individual study or just to relax. There will be more dining options, more spaces to simply read for pleasure — more options for students all around.”

While the dedication of the Student Center is still a year away, anticipation among students is already building. “An NCAA basketball court, new fitness rooms, a food court — these are things that the students want and need,” says Joshua Fanning, President of the Class of 2006. “Not only will it be great for the students enrolled at Emmanuel now, but it will give prospective students more initiative to apply to Emmanuel and become part of our community.”

The Student Center is especially likely to improve Emmanuel’s continuing efforts to recruit diverse and talented high-school student-athletes. Andrea Basteri, a first-year student and a member of the varsity volleyball team, says, “This new gym can’t but have a positive impact on recruitment. Who wouldn’t want a brand new Student Center to work out and perfect your skills in?”

It also should be noted that, even with recent gains, Emmanuel still faces a range of needs in the area of physical resources. One longstanding problem has been that of “deferred maintenance,” that is, the accumulation of routine repairs that have been left undone for years. More work remains to be done on a the College’s behind-the-scenes infrastructure of heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning (HVAC), and many other vital systems.

Why were these repairs delayed for so long?

“Largely because, over the years, whatever cash surpluses the College had were given out in financial aid,” explains Sister Anne. “Anytime we’ve been able to provide students a chance to come here — to a place where we can nurture them and give them the tools they need to grow into their potential — well, that has always taken priority. Because that’s our mission.”

Indeed, Emmanuel’s founding mission has been, and continues to be, at the heart of every major strategic decision at the College. Among Emmanuel’s leadership and throughout the community, there is a deep commitment to enhancing the Emmanuel experience — and to transforming the lives of future generations of promising young men and women.

Sister Anne recalls how that commitment guided her in her negotiations with Merck. “At a certain point, Merck offered to buy the property outright, and I told them no, it’s not for sale. Now, in the back of my mind, I thought that selling would be a great way to generate money in the short term. But I’m a historian by trade and often view things in broad time context. I want to know that, 75 years from now, this land can come back to us, and that Emmanuel College will retain its place as a Catholic educational presence in the city of Boston.”

The Carolyn A. Lynch Institute, a unique and innovative collaboration between Emmanuel College and the Lynch Foundation to develop and retain teachers in urban school systems, launched on November 7th. Emmanuel President Sister Janet Eisner, SND welcomed Peter and Carolyn Lynch, Lynch Foundation Board members and education officials to the campus to inaugurate the Institute and to honor the Lynches for their $2.1 million founding gift.

The Carolyn A. Lynch Institute at Emmanuel College addresses the critical issues facing schools today with reality-based and practical programs — preparing teachers for the urban environment, enabling new and veteran teachers to collaborate and share knowledge, funding scholarships to attract the most-qualified students, addressing the shortfalls of math and science education, offering cutting-edge technology training to education students, and providing extensive professional support.

"Part of the Carolyn A. Lynch Institute of Emmanuel College is the belief in the life-transforming power of education. We believe deeply that education changes people's lives," said Sister Janet. "With the resources of the Carolyn A. Lynch Institute, Emmanuel is now developing a model program demonstrating how a college in partnership with local public and parochial schools can contribute to the quality of urban education and in the process improve student's lives."

Carolyn Lynch, who received an honorary degree from Emmanuel in 1994 along with her husband Peter, spoke during the event. "When I first learned about this venture five years ago it was an idea. It immediately struck me that here, finally, was a practical response to the teacher shortage crisis we are facing in this country, especially in the inner city environment." She continued, "Teachers face the complex issues of broken homes, students that do not speak English, homes that cannot afford books, much less a computer...this institute faces these problems in typical Notre Dame style, which does not shun the difficult road or just hope that..."
these problems will resolve themselves.”

Superintendent of the Watertown Public Schools Sally L. Dias ’62, a member of the College’s Board of Trustees and a former physics and math teacher, commented on the dramatic benefits of the collaboration. “As a former student and alumna of Emmanuel College, the values of community, of responsibility, of social justice, permeate this institution. These same values are the core of the Carolyn A. Lynch Institute, with its commitment to urban education, to our most at-risk students and the critical areas of mathematics, science and technology.”

She outlined the clear needs of the urban and semi-urban environments, based on her teaching and administrative experience, which the Institute directly addresses — “the need for consistent expectations for attainment of high standards, classroom instruction that is standards-based and content-rich, and strategy and support to manage the growing diversity of backgrounds and learning styles in our schools.”

Kathleen Flannery ’70, Principal of the Edward Everett School, a partner school in Dorchester, spoke of the opportunities for collaboration between the Institute and schools, which include full-year internships and professional development. “I would like to commend Emmanuel and the Lynches for the choice to support and develop urban educators. Urban educators need to be well-schooled in the aspects of collaboration and curriculum. Authentic professional learning that takes place in a real urban school is absolutely the right choice.”

Superintendent of Schools for the Archdiocese of Boston Sister Kathleen Carr, CSJ, spoke on behalf of parochial schools and elaborated on the Institutes’ Teacher-in-Residence Program.

The program is a year-long faculty appointment at Emmanuel for a teacher or administrator from a Boston parochial school who will teach two courses, supervise student teachers, collaborate with Emmanuel faculty, conduct research projects and develop curriculum programs.

“Emmanuel College is a loyal friend and longstanding supporter of Catholic schools, in particular the 41 high schools and elementary schools in the city of Boston. As the only urban, Catholic college, Emmanuel is uniquely positioned to work in partnership with us to further the mission of Catholic education in service to the youth of the city of Boston.” She continued, “The Teacher-in-Residence Program is innovative and we believe it has the potential to be a successful national model.”

Chair of the Education Department Sandra Perry presented the first-ever Lynch Scholarships to three Emmanuel educational studies majors committed to urban education — Kellie-Ann Folsom ’04, who is also pursuing a concentration in psychology, Samyuktha Lingamneni ’04, an instructional technology minor with a concentration in psychology, and Elizabeth Teixeira ’04, an active community volunteer.

Dr. Dennis Bartels, president of TERC, a math and science research and development center based in Cambridge which has developed curriculum for the Boston Public Schools, also spoke of his relationship with the College praising the work of the Lynch Institute.

Emmanuel Assistant Professor of Education Sister Karen Hokanson, SND, formerly a principal in both Roslindale and Dorchester, offered an interactive presentation outlining the technology programs available to Emmanuel students, which are critical to the ever-changing needs of classrooms. Funded by the Institute, these include integration of technology at pre-practicum sites, multimedia classrooms and computer labs at Emmanuel, and soon smart board technology for classrooms and online learning.

During a reception following the program, current education students and Emmanuel alumni displayed electronic portfolios, presented information on their practica experiences and demonstrated current educational technology.

From the events of September 11, 2001 to school shootings to a recent rash of kidnappings, the world has changed dramatically in the two-and-a-half years since Maggie Moran BA '77 MA '92 launched KidsTerrain, Inc. But Moran has never wavered from the founding mission of her company — to foster positive communication between children and adults. Wilmington, MA-based KidsTerrain has evolved to address quickly the ever-changing needs of children, parents and teachers and to accommodate the reality of the world today.

Moran founded KidsTerrain in July of 2000 after a 25-year career in the healthcare industry, launching a web site (www.kidsterrain.com) and producing publications that elicit discussion between children and caring adults about the often-complex issues that face them each day. The web site serves as an online community for parents, teachers and other adults to seek advice and find the resources to make this communication more effective. Books written by Moran and a monthly newspaper, KidsGazette, published by a division of KidsTerrain called New Voices Publishing, serve as jumping-off points for discussion. Based on the success of the site and publications, and societal changes, the company has expanded its offerings to include interactive motivational and educational programs in schools, daycare and community centers, and libraries.

Maggie Moran grew up in Dorchester, MA and conducted her nursing training in Lowell, Dorchester and Baltimore. Serving in several pediatric capacities at St John's in Lowell, St.
Margaret's, Cambridge City Hospital, Choate Heath Systems, Head Start, Camp Nurse and ultimately as a nurse at Regis College, Moran found that she was not only attending to the mental, behavioral and physical needs of the individuals seeking such services, but was also providing support to families and school systems. When she decided to further her education, Moran made the decision to pursue her bachelor's degree in psychology at Emmanuel, a move that proved to be a major shift in her career.

"The environment at Emmanuel encouraged broad-based learning and the faculty truly expanded my knowledge base." Moran specifically recalls a course with Sister Ellen Glavin, SND, her first and only art class, which sparked a new interest in artistic expression. Moran returned to Emmanuel and earned a master's degree in healthcare administration in 1992.

"Emmanuel is essential to who I am. It expanded my knowledge far beyond my boundaries and capabilities at the time." But it was not until she heard of a six-year old boy shooting a fellow student in Flint, Michigan when Moran knew she had to pursue her dream of making a concrete difference in the lives of children. Moran had been writing children's stories since the 1970s as a creative outlet, but this event provided the impetus to turn this craft into a career.

"Because of my experience in pediatrics, I believe that I am able to look at people in a variety of ways," said Moran. "I listen, observe and communicate differently because of my medical and psychiatric background."

Moran collaborated with colleague Ellen Gilmartin, co-founder and now KidsTerrain CFO, and formed a clinical team of child psychiatrists and psychologists, social workers and nurses. She combined the expertise of this advisory group with first-hand parent and teacher insight, and the business acumen of a volunteer board of directors to develop the vision for KidsTerrain — a community to help parents talk to kids, kids talk to teachers, and teachers talk to parents. And KidsTerrain began.

The publication of Moran's first children's story, The Magic in Me, brought her back to Emmanuel College. When she was looking for someone to illustrate the book, which encourages readers to discover and express their individual magic, she contacted Sister Ellen Glavin. Chie Sasaki '01, an Emmanuel senior at the time, was seeking an internship and the stars aligned. "The Magic in Me," which is also accompanied by a CD and is now the basis for an educational program, was published in November 2001. Max, one of the six KidsTerrain Kids, expresses his magic — promoting self-esteem among children, an issue that Moran has found to be pervasive today.

Sasaki, a graphic design and technology major while at Emmanuel, continued with KidsTerrain after graduation. "Our company brought out the magic in her and she brought out the magic in us," said Moran. "Her sweetness truly comes out in her illustrations."

Moran's second book, Aunt Rosa's House, was published in early 2002. Also illustrated by Sasaki, the book focuses on the importance of children and adults talking and listening to each other. Moran believes her stories address issues that have not been readily available to children and adults. Since founding KidsTerrain, Moran has discovered the main issues facing children, parents and teachers today, including disabilities, stress and lack of time, the teacher's role and lack of educational tools, inclusion in regular classrooms, stress, violence, communication, listening, obesity, and consistent messaging between parents and teachers.

Moran sees KidsTerrain educational programs, which range from six-week series to one-hour sessions, as an increasingly important part of her company, in addition to the site and publications. Through web site message boards and interaction with both children and adults, KidsTerrain has developed reality-based programs that are relevant to the needs of today. Issues addressed in programs for children include topics such as the importance of reading, building self-esteem, dealing with strangers and nutrition. Teacher programs address managing stress in the classroom, parent/teacher discussion and ergonomics for teachers. Parent workshops discuss play dates, nutrition and exercise, and listening and talking to kids.

Through the programs they have conducted, Moran and her staff have been able to pinpoint what children and adults are looking for to help one another and create an environment of effective communication. Moran believes that we, as a society, have lost the "neighborhood concept."

"My goal is to bring the wonderful aspects of the past into the present," said Moran. "By combining nostalgia with the reality of life today, you can find something amazing."

KidsGazette is a monthly classroom news publication that combines current events with historical and cultural issues, edited by Rita Schiano. CDs include The Magic in Me and "Tiny Acts of Kindness," a song about September 11th. Following the events, Moran saw a dramatic need for advice on how to cope with emotions and talk to children. Users from 65 countries have visited the web site.

"We're all here to help each other. I feel very strongly about that." Someone Took Vanessa's Bike, a story about consequences, will be available in early 2003. For more information about KidsTerrain, its publications and programs, visit the web site at www.kidterrain.com or call 978-658-2131.

Maureen Murphy Wilkens '56 is searching for the right words to explain why she and her husband decided to contribute $1 million to support the new state-of-the-art Student Center that is now being constructed in the middle of the Emmanuel College campus.

The strong emotional pull of her alma mater? A need to reconnect to her college after having lived out of the area most of their married lives?

No, says Maureen emphatically, glancing over at her husband Frank recently in their Osterville living room where they agreed to talk to Emmanuel Magazine about their gift. “It's not that. It was really Sister Janet,” she says finally. “Her enthusiasm for Emmanuel College is contagious and maybe we caught a little bit of that.”

“We had the opportunity to be able to do it and we were thrilled to be able to do it,” says Frank matter-of-factly.

The Wilkens' modesty about their support of Emmanuel College was evident watching them circulate around Marian Hall following a groundbreaking ceremony for the Student Center last fall. Wading into the crowd of more than 150 faculty, alumni and students after receiving a standing ovation for their gift, the Wilkens settled into a group of Emmanuel students and chatted with them about their hopes and dreams at Emmanuel.

“So many students came up to us afterward to talk,” said Frank. “It was great to see that kind of enthusiasm at the school.”

Being in the middle of Marian Hall was a reflective moment for Maureen Wilkens last September. High above the stage where she sat with her husband was a massive color banner depicting what the new Student Center will look like when it is complete. The gym where they sat will be replaced with a new gymnasium that will include one National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) regulation basketball court that will also serve as the largest gathering space on campus to accommodate the entire college community.

“Marian Hall went up in 1955 and I graduated in 1956, so I only enjoyed it for one year,” said Maureen. “The new Student Center will open in 2004, so the upper-class students we talked to will have graduated before it opens, but the others told us they look forward to using it.”

Maureen and Frank met when Frank was attending Harvard Business School. Three years later, they were no sooner married when Frank was transferred to Akron, Ohio. The recollection of that sudden move to Ohio still draws a look from Maureen who glances at Frank to underscore how less-than-thrilled she was to be leaving her beloved New England for Ohio. But soon they were leaving Ohio for the big city lights of New York City where Maureen welcomed the change. In 1971, the Wilkens settled in Greenwich, CT where they spent the next 20 years raising their four sons.

It was in Greenwich that they would first meet Sister Janet Eisner who would keep the Wilkens current about life at Emmanuel College and share with them her vision of what Emmanuel could become. Over the years, the Wilkens would lend financial support to Emmanuel, including support for scholarships. Contact with Sister Janet would continue as the Wilkens moved to Cape Cod in 1991 where they could combine a bit of a homecoming with retirement.

“I guess we were among the first to know that the college was considering becoming coeducational,” says Frank. “Sister Janet would talk to us about Merck and her excitement about reclaiming Julie Hall.”

The Wilkens’ interest in making a substantial gift to Emmanuel College was only waiting for the right opportunity. They wanted something that would be tangible and important in the students’ lives. “In supporting small schools you do see results,” said Maureen. “You can make a big difference, and that was important to us.”

That something tangible would become the Student Center, the very intersection of student life on campus.

There was nothing small about Frank’s college or post-college experience. It is hard to make that difference at the University of Wisconsin or the Harvard Business School, he says. “That’s the great thing about small schools,” he says. “When we talked to Sister about the Student Center, we liked what we saw.”

What has been particularly gratifying for the Wilkens is watching as Emmanuel College is quite literally transformed before their eyes. In just the past few years alone, they have witnessed the unique partnership with Merck Pharmaceuticals that will provide students with medical research opportunities on campus.

“It will probably always be a work in progress,” says Frank.

“I can’t say I’m surprised, we are very pleased by what we’ve seen,” says Maureen. “I can’t imagine what it would have been if it weren’t for Sister Janet.”

As she announced the Wilkens gift to an enthusiastic and grateful college community in September, Sister Janet made it quite clear that despite their modesty about their gift, the Wilkens have made a lasting impression on Emmanuel College that students will long appreciate for generations to come.

Dear Graduates and Friends,

On behalf of the entire Emmanuel College community, I want to express my sincere appreciation to everyone who has contributed in so many ways to Emmanuel College during this past year. This Giving Report acknowledges the outstanding generosity of an increasing number of graduates and friends who recognize the value of contributing to Emmanuel College. More than 4,000 individuals, corporations and foundations contributed $2.5 million to Emmanuel in the 2001-02 giving year.

As the College grows, we are building on Emmanuel's 84-year tradition of Catholic academic excellence in the liberal arts and sciences in order to create a dynamic learning environment for our current and future students. The College's loyal alumni are so important to the vitality of Emmanuel today. The continued generosity of our alumni and friends gives us confidence as we move forward with our educational mission and future plans. All of us at Emmanuel are deeply grateful for this outstanding support of Emmanuel College.

May Emmanuel, our God-with-us, continue to bless this College and all those associated with it during the new year.

Sincerely yours,

Sister Janet Eisner, SND

International First-Year Students

To complete your application file, please make sure you have sent:

- official secondary school transcript, accompanied by an official English translation, validated by a certified public translator
- proof of proficiency in English. A minimum score of 500 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), or 173 on the computer based TOEFL must be sent directly from the Educational Testing Service. Test scores can be requested by calling 609-771-7600; Emmanuel College's reporting code is 9606. Emmanuel College may also accept successful completion of any of the following as proof of English proficiency: English Language Center program, ELS level 109, CELOP Level E, American Language Academy Level S, L.I.F.E. level 12
- If English is your native language, arrange to have Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) results sent to the Office of Admissions. The SAT is also recommended for other international students to strengthen their application
- two letters of academic recommendation—one from a secondary school guidance counselor or its equivalent and the other from a secondary school teacher
- completed Certification of Finances form with supporting bank documentation. (The College is required by the United States Immigration authorities to verify the financial resources prior to issuing the Certificate of Eligibility [I-20] form)
- you are encouraged to schedule an interview with an admissions counselor

International Transfer Students

International transfer applicants should follow the same procedure as noted in the instructions for international first year students. One of the two recommendations must be from a recent college advisor or professor. In addition, you are required to submit the following:

- official college transcripts from each college attended, including grades from the most recent semester, accompanied by an official English translation, validated by a certified public translator
- course description catalogs from each college attended, accompanied by an official English translation, validated by a certified public translator.
U.S. First-Year students

To complete your application file, please make sure you have sent:

- official high school transcript including first quarter senior year grades
- two letters of academic recommendation—one from a secondary school guidance counselor and the other from a secondary school teacher.
- SAT or ACT results
- Please list any college or university courses you will have completed before entering Emmanuel College.

Admissions decisions are based on several factors, including:

- Previous academic record
- Recommendations
- SAT or ACT results
- Extracurricular and community activities
- Essay or graded writing sample

The College has a rolling admissions policy that, after December 1, gives you an admissions decision within two weeks of receipt of your completed application.

We observe the College Board's Candidates Reply Date of May 1 and subscribe to the early decision plan. To be considered for early decision, you should complete all admissions requirements before November 1 of your senior year.

You are encouraged to schedule a campus visit and personal interview to best determine if Emmanuel is the right place for you. Contact the Office of Admissions at 617-735-9715, where you will find our admissions staff on hand to arrange your campus visit and answer any questions you may have.

Financial Aid

Most financial aid is based on financial need. Some funds are awarded to students based on merit rather than financial need, as determined by the College. For more information about our comprehensive scholarship program and to get the necessary FAFSA and Emmanuel College forms, contact our Office of Student Financial Services at 617-735-9725. (Please note that the priority-filing deadline for financial aid is April 1.)

Emmanuel College admits men and women of any race, religion, national or ethnic origin, handicap, or sexual orientation to all rights, privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the College. The College maintains a policy of nondiscrimination toward all persons eligible for scholarship and loan programs and other College administered programs.

Emmanuel offers rolling admissions

Matching gifts can only be obtained with your help. If you or your spouse are employed by (or in some cases retired from) a matching gift company, your gift to Emmanuel College can be doubled or tripled. For a complete list of participating companies, or for additional information on matching gifts, please contact the Office of Development and Alumni Relations at 617-735-9771.

Ways of Giving

There are many ways for you to support Emmanuel College while providing tangible tax benefits:

- Cash - Cash gifts are the most immediate way to make a difference. These gifts can be made in convenient installments.

- Credit Cards - Mastercard, Visa and Discover credit cards are accepted for gift payments. Additionally, the new Emmanuel College Affinity Credit Card is a great way to support the College, with a percentage of your purchases supporting alumni programs. Call for more information on how to obtain your Emmanuel College Credit Card.

- Securities and Stock - You can deduct the full market value on gifts of stock owned over one year and avoid capital gains taxes on contributions of securities and stock transferred to Emmanuel.

- Gift Annuities - Receive a lifetime income with a gift annuity. The percentage of income you receive is based on your age, amount and timing of your gift. Real Estate, Insurance, Bequests and Gifts-in-kind are also giving options that help strengthen Emmanuel College while providing philanthropic benefits to you.

Please contact Gail Mansfield in the Office of Development & Alumni Relations at 617-735-9954 for additional information on giving opportunities at Emmanuel College.
Named Scholarships

Endowed and restricted scholarships provide much-needed financial assistance to current students as well as to future generations of Emmanuel students. As the College's undergraduate population continues to increase, these funds will be an even more critical resource. Emmanuel College welcomes the participation of its alumni and friends in the establishment of new scholarship funds and the enhancement of existing funds. We gratefully acknowledge gifts made to the following scholarship funds during the past fiscal year:

Virginia M. Cahill Memorial Scholarship Fund, established in 1986 by alumni, family and friends in memory of Virginia M. Cahill, Class of 1974, to provide scholarship assistance to an undergraduate student who demonstrates academic excellence, strength of character and financial need.

M. Rosamond Collins Endowed Scholarship Fund, established in 2002 by M. Rosamond Collins, Class of 1947, on the occasion of her 55th reunion, to provide scholarship assistance to deserving undergraduate students with financial need.

Elizabeth A. Crowley Scholarship Fund, established in 1985 by her parents in memory of Elizabeth A. Crowley, an Emmanuel student, to provide financial assistance to a deserving undergraduate student, with preference to students challenged by a handicap or illness.

Barbara A. Deck Scholarship Fund, established in 1992 by Raymond Deck in honor of his daughter, Barbara A. Deck, Class of 1962, to provide financial assistance to a student who demonstrates academic achievement and financial need.

Kevin M. Ejdts Scholarship Fund, established in 1999 by Helen Hennessey Ejdts, Class of 1967, in memory of her son Kevin M. Ejdts, to provide scholarship assistance to a graduate of Bishop Fenwick High School in Peabody, MA.

Sister Janet Eisner, SND Scholarship Fund, established through the generosity of Emmanuel College graduates and friends to honor Sister Janet for her steadfast commitment to affordable education and her own substantial efforts to make an Emmanuel education attainable for future generations of students.

Staying Current
The 2002 Annual Giving Report recognizes individuals, corporations and foundations who have contributed to Emmanuel College from July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002. Every effort was made to ensure that each donor was accurately recognized. In order to maintain complete listings, please bring corrections or omissions to the attention of Development Information Systems at 617-735-9754 or email: yee@emmanuel.edu. Thank you.
Emmanuel College reacquired Julie Hall in September 2002, the residence hall sold to Beth Israel Hospital in 1974 and renamed the Libby Building. The blessing and naming ceremony on October 25th officially brought the building back to the Emmanuel campus and honored Thomas J. Hynes, Jr, president of Meredith & Grew and former chair of the College's Board of Trustees, for the generous contribution of his time and highly-respected talent during the negotiations to reacquire Julie Hall.

Built in 1957 as Emmanuel's first residence hall and named for the founder of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur Saint Julie Billiart, Julie Hall will undergo major renovations and will reopen in fall 2003. The building will once again house students, offering a variety of living options including suites.

"Bringing Julie Hall back to this campus is a significant milestone in the history of Emmanuel as we reclaim our legacy," said President Sister Janet Eisner, SND. "This is a remarkable time for us as an institution, a time of new vitality and energy due to increased enrollment."

The naming ceremony included remarks by Sister Janet and a blessing by Co-Director of Campus Ministry Father Richard Clancy. Hynes and his wife, Nicole Delava Hynes, joined current students Susan Grenon '04 and Justin Prairie '05 to unveil the new Julie Hall sign. Hynes stated that this transaction for Emmanuel is among the most important work he has ever done.

Sister Janet Eisner offered a tribute to Hynes, a member of Emmanuel’s board from 1978 to 1990 and a recipient of an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the College in 1990. A “true son of Boston,” Hynes was raised in West Roxbury and attended Boston College High School and Boston College.

The Hynes family has a strong connection to both Emmanuel and the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur. Thomas Hynes’ mother and aunts were educated at Notre Dame Academy and his great aunt was herself a Sister of Notre Dame. Nicole Delava Hynes studied with the Sisters of Notre Dame in Namur, Belgium.

Hynes played an instrumental role in the reacquisition — guiding Emmanuel through the period of negotiation, providing advice throughout the process and meeting with Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center executives.

To recognize the Hynes’ contributions to Emmanuel, Sister Janet announced that the enclosed courtyard in Julie Hall will be known as “Hynes Square” when the building reopens in September. Additionally, the College has arranged for a marble plaque to be placed in the garden chapel in Namur, Belgium. It will read, "With gratitude for bringing Julie Hall home to Emmanuel. Thomas J. Hynes, Jr. — Nicole Delava Hynes — October 25, 2002."

"The Hynes are very much a part of Emmanuel’s story," said Sister Janet. "We are profoundly grateful."

Julie Hall will house upper-class students and will be completely renovated to accommodate over 200 beds. Housing options will include singles, doubles, and three-to-five person suites. Suites will include a shared private bathroom and some will feature small kitchens. Each floor will have a full kitchen for resident use, and the lower level will have a courtyard as well as common study and conference spaces. The hall will also have a cyber café.

"Julie Hall gives Emmanuel College upper-class students an opportunity for a new experience and a link to Emmanuel’s history," said Junior Susan Grenon. "Although the building is going to be newly renovated, the memories that alumni have had in the past will always remain."

College Breaks Ground for New Student Center

September 27, 2002 marked the official beginning of construction for Emmanuel's new state-of-the-art Student Center. Mayor of Boston Thomas M. Menino, Congressman Michael Capuano and the Board of Trustees were on hand to congratulate the College community and Sister Janet Elsner on the first groundbreaking at Emmanuel since 1966. To be completed in the fall of 2004, the center will include classrooms, laboratories, dining facilities and an NCAA-regulation gymnasium.

Mayor Menino, a long-time friend of the College, praised Sister Janet on Emmanuel's recent growth and on the College's continued role as a vital part of the city. "Sister Janet is an individual, not only in the academic world, but in the world of Boston, who does so much for so many at so many times...it is so important that the colleges and universities of Boston grow — that is what makes Boston unique."

Congressman Michael Capuano, who represents the Eighth Congressional District of Massachusetts, offered his congratulations during the ceremony. "Education is about the students, about the faculty, about the administrators and the alumni who support the college. A school with all these elements is a wonderful place to be and it shines above its competition. This school is such a school. I thank you and congratulate you on having such a wonderful spirit, for such dedication to the next generation and for being a wonderful part of the city of Boston."

During the ceremony, Sister Janet announced a donation of $1 million for the center from Mr. Frank Wilkens and Mrs. Maureen Murphy Wilkens '56 — the largest gift from an Emmanuel graduate in the College's history (see related story page 10). Upon completion of the facility, the glass atrium will be named in the Wilkens' honor.

The Saints Make Their Mark

The women's basketball team was ranked 13th nationally in the USA Today Women's Basketball Coaches Association pre-season poll. The squad was victorious in the 19th Annual PEPSI Tap-Off tournament on November 24th, defeating Moravian College of Pennsylvania, 83-75 in overtime. Senior Center Lon Tega Morris led the team with 15 points and 5 rebounds. The Saints defeated New Jersey City College in the opening round, 88-49.

The men's basketball squad defeated Yeshiva University of New York, 78-75, during the consolation final of the Tap-Off on November 24th. Sophomore Guard Bobby Brown scored 14 points to lead the Saints. Sophomore Forward Albert Hayle, who scored 19 points and a school record 9 assists in the win and 13 points and 5 assists versus Moravian College in the opening round, was named to the All-Tournament Team. Senior Center Bryan Smith led the team in the 76-65 loss with 19 points and 8 rebounds. Both basketball teams look forward to a successful season.

The women's soccer squad had a milestone 2002 season — advancing to the semifinals of the Great North Atlantic Conference (GNAC) tournament for the first time ever, upsetting third seeded Simmons College in the quarterfinals. Senior Captain Katie Baribeault, the Saints leading point scorer this season with 10 goals and 2 assists, was named an all-star, along with Junior Captain Kellie Folsom — also a first for the women's soccer team. The team was led by first-year coach Wayne Currie, and ended the season with a GNAC record of 6-6, eventually losing to Johnson & Wales in the semifinals of the tournament.

The women's cross-country team, in its second year as a varsity team, won the Elms Invitational on September 28th — the first invitational meet victory in the College's history. Senior Betsy Suda won the 3K in a time of 13:43. Suda also set a personal record in the 3.1 mile event at the UMass Dartmouth Invitational on September 17th. Sophomore Keven James on the men's squad set a college and personal record at the same event, completing the 8000-meter in 31:28. James was named GNAC Player of the Week for September 23rd.

The women's volleyball team concluded another successful season, with a 19-12 overall record, a 9-4 conference record and an appearance in the GNAC semifinals. Freshman Rachel Ziminsky and Senior Captain Christine Crotty led the Saints with 256 and 241 kills respectively. Junior Captain Kristal Breneman led the team in both assists (779) and digs (870). Crotty was named to the GNAC All-Tournament Team and 1st Team All-Conference. Breneman and Ziminsky picked up 2nd team honors. Coach Joe Seid logged his 200th career win with Emmanuel during the season.

Congratulations to the Emmanuel dance team for placing second in the college dance division of the New England Cheer and Dance Competition at the Reggie Lewis Center. The team will perform during men's and women's home basketball games this season.

The College has introduced several new varsity sports for the 2002-2003 academic year, including men's soccer, men's volleyball, and men's and women's outdoor track & field.

Lecture Series

M. Shawn Copeland, Ph.D., president-elect of the Catholic Theological Society of America and the Joseph Visiting Scholar of Theology at Boston College, was this year's featured speaker at the Fourth Annual Sister Marie Augusta Neal, SND Lecture Series, on October 24th. Copeland, an internationally known Catholic theologian, spoke on the topic of "Disturbing Aesthetics of Race." An author and frequent lecturer on such topics as political and womanist theologies and the African American religious experience, Copeland holds an honorary degree from Emmanuel College.

Sister Marie Augusta Neal, SND, was recently honored with the Luzbetak Award from the Center for Applied Research in the Apostolate (CARA) at Georgetown University. The annual award is given to scholars who have done exemplary Church research during their scholarly careers. A member of the Emmanuel faculty for 37 years, Sister Marie Augusta published more than 70 articles and six books on topics of women in the church, social justice and social change.

Merck Update

Merck Pharmaceuticals held the Steel Topping Out Ceremony for its Boston Research Center in July 2002, hoisting the top beam of the structure. Merck broke ground on the Emmanuel College campus for its 11th and largest research facility in October 2001 with the projected completion date in early 2004.

Incoming Class Largest in 32 years

With 324 first-year students and 58 transfers arriving on campus on August 31, 2002, Emmanuel College is the fastest growing college in the region. In just its second year as a coeducational institution, the College's incoming enrollment has doubled since 2000 and applications have tripled.

Message from the Alumni Association President

Anyone who visits the Emmanuel campus today can detect the energy and enthusiasm of students, faculty and administration. Even the workers wearing hardhats know they are part of something very special. The student population is returning to the high enrollment of the early 70s and the facilities are undergoing unimagined transformations. For alumni, it is especially satisfying.

While I first want to take this opportunity to thank alumni for their support of the College and the Association, I also want to invite you to attend upcoming events that will enable you to strengthen your ties and nurture your relationship with an institution that played an important role in your lives.

A quick recap of last year shows that alumni joined together for some very memorable activities and events, including the always-popular Red Sox game, a unique tour of the Jacqueline Kennedy exhibit at the JFK Library and Museum, the annual Lenten Reflection Liturgy and discussion with Co-Director of Campus Ministry Father Richard Clancy, and a first-ever trip to see the Boston Bruins. In some cases, family and friends accompanied Emmanuel alumni attendees; in others, alumni arranged to meet up with their former classmates and caught up on each other’s lives. Alumni also returned to campus for Memorial Liturgies, campus lectures, and volunteer work in the Admissions Office and Office of Development and Alumni Relations. During graduation weekend, our very own alumna and volunteer extraordinaire — Betty O’Hearn ’47 — was so justly awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters by the College. In a wonderful conclusion to the year, reunion year classes gathered at Alumni Weekend to celebrate the College, recognize their own achievements, loyalty, and support of Emmanuel, and award the second Outstanding Alumna Award to Sr. Mary Johnson, SND ’79.

This year, certain ever-popular events will be repeated and new activities will be introduced. Please try any one or more of them and take advantage of the care and personal attention of our Development and Alumni Relations staff, each of whom does a superb job meeting the needs and expectations of alumni.

I invite you to become as involved and engaged in the Alumni Association as your time permits. We are actively seeking candidates for election to the Alumni Association Board of Directors and welcome inquiries and nominations. We are always interested in increasing the numbers of alumni attendees at our events in order to give everyone the greatest opportunity to reconnect with old friends and network with new ones.

Please consider joining us next time you receive an invitation to an upcoming event. I look forward to seeing you there.

Day Trip to Newport
A group of Emmanuel graduates traveled to Newport, RI to explore the historic Vanderbilt mansions — The Marble House and The Breakers — on October 19th. Kathleen Dolan ’00, a member of the Alumni Association Board of Directors, greeted alums as they boarded a motor coach at Emmanuel.

Alums Gather for Networking Event
The Adult Learner Committee of Emmanuel College sponsored its fall networking event on October 3rd at the Back Bay Hilton in Boston. The committee is planning a number of events for 2003, including additional networking events, information panels and educational seminars to be held in a variety of locations and areas. Check our web page at www.emmanuel.edu/alumni for updates.

Grads Volunteer at Franklin Park
Emmanuel Community Service Coordinator Deirdre Bradley ’98 organized a group of alumni and current students for a day of service, helping to clean up Franklin Park and to raise money for the zoo and the Fund for Parks & Recreation. Held on September 21st, the event was sponsored by Starbucks, which donated $10 per hour for each volunteer. The Emmanuel contingent, which included Assistant Director of Alumni Relations Mollie Kaye Wieser ’98 and Maura Bradley ’96, raised $540 for the zoo. Alumni are encouraged to participate in upcoming community service projects through Emmanuel. Please contact Deirdre Bradley at (617) 735-9753 to get involved.

Fall Red Sox Game
One hundred alumni, family and friends gathered for a trip to Fenway Park on September 13th to see the Boston Red Sox take on the Baltimore Orioles. Patricia Babine Crane ’85 and Maureen Hallice ’83, representing the officers and directors of the Alumni Association, welcomed guests to the College for a dinner and presented each with an Emmanuel baseball cap prior to the game. We plan to reserve a larger block of seats next season to respond to the growing popularity of this event.

Regional Club Events
The Emmanuel College Merrimack Valley Alumni Club held its annual fall luncheon at the Hillview in North Reading on October 6th. Sister Janet Eisner greeted alumni and talked about the excitement at Emmanuel today. Alumni from the 1940s to the 1990s joined together for the Emmanuel College MetroWest Alumni Club Fall Luncheon on October 27th. Associate Professor of Religious Studies Dr. Anne Wetherill was the keynote speaker for the event, discussing the topic “Youth and Faith: How Are Young People Relating to Faith Traditions in Today’s World?”

Annual Summer Luncheon
Alumni and guests gathered at the Coonamessett Inn in Falmouth, MA on July 25, 2002 for the 25th Anniversary of the Cape Cod Summer Luncheon. Sister Janet Eisner, SND addressed the 175 participants, providing an update on recent developments and future plans at Emmanuel. Sister Janet also paid tribute to the past leader of the Cape Cod Club for many years, J. Patricia Marsh ’43, who passed away in June.

New Staff
Mollie Kaye Wieser ’98 has joined the Emmanuel staff as the Assistant Director of Alumni Relations, a role in which she will support the increasing number of events and activities of the Office of Development and Alumni Relations. Prior to this position, Wieser was an executive producer for a sports talk show and network game producer in Phoenix, AZ. Wieser received her Bachelor of Arts in Communications from Emmanuel and was captain of both the basketball and tennis teams.

It is with great sadness that we report the death of Marie Glennon on November 4, 2002. President of Emmanuel College, St. Janet Esner, SND eulogized Marie at her funeral Mass of the Resurrection on November 6, 2002. Excerpts follow.

Marie Glennon, dedicated teacher, wise counselor, loyal alumna, good friend and generous benefactor, especially to the Sisters of Notre Dame, Notre Dame Academy and Emmanuel College. The 1925 yearbook of Emmanuel notes of her: "Good nature and good sense must ever tone her. She finds happiness just in the serene joy of doing day by day big and little acts of kindness." How prophetic were those words of the life Marie would lead.

After graduating from Emmanuel having majored in Latin and math, Marie received her Master's from Boston University and began teaching at Girls' Latin School. After 20 years of teaching, she spent the next 20 years as a guidance counselor at Girls' Latin School. Four decades of her students found in her a clarity of vision, and the generosity of spirit of a great educator.

Although I did not experience first hand Marie Glennon the teacher, I certainly heard of her from her students. I met Marie as a guidance counselor my first day in the Admissions Office in 1966. She telephoned me to let me know the student she would be recommending to Emmanuel. That was the first of many calls over the years. She cared deeply about her students and would say: "this girl needs a little more help," or "maybe I'll help her out a bit, her father just lost his job." From the 30s to the early 70s Marie Glennon referred more students single-handedly to Emmanuel College than any other person.

Marie remembered her students with kindness throughout their lives. She would say to me of someone who graduated in the 40s or 50s: "she just lost her husband so especially kind to her," or "give her some extra recognition, she's having a hard time."

How proud we were in 1991 to confer on Marie the honorary degree of Distinguished Alumna. Letters from her, St. Lillian Morris, SND '43 delivered the citation recognizing Marie's life accomplishments as an educator.

In June 2000 Marie celebrated her 75th anniversary of her commencement. She led the reunion classes down the aisle of the Emmanuel Chapel — graduates of 1925 to the most recent graduates of 2000. She spoke that day of the many blessings she had received from her friends and teachers at Emmanuel, from her family of whom she was so proud, of the Sisters of Notre Dame. Scripture asks who shall find a valiant woman, who keeps her lamp burning all night and reaches out her hand to the needy. We have known such a valiant woman in Marie Glennon. Marie wrote the class notes for the class of 1925, and I would like to close my reflections with her words so often written about her classmates, which so reflect her own deep belief: God called Marie Glennon to herself; she was born to eternal life. Our sincere sympathy goes to her family and friends together with a promise of prayers for Marie's peace and happiness with the Lord.
